

MAY

Wunder 526—The existence of involuntary servitude in the relation of master and servant is known to, and recognized by the laws of every state in the Union except Massachusetts, and the State of Alabama is a part of the eastern common law of which she is a party.

Notwithstanding this, custom, or common law, this constitutional obligation is to discharge but to deliver the slave to his master, higher, and higher, and never guarantees for the defense and protection of slavery.

Thus we slaves acknowledge and warrant in the constitution a property, property to be imported—to be held, to be represented, to be delivered, a species of the master. Thus is slavery shown, in several respects by the federal constitution, peculiar favor instead of disfavor. It is the only property that is specifically provided for and placed beneath the aegis of the Union. The constitution recognizes it as a recognized right of the people and of the States, but imposes a federal duty on the States and their central government to respect and uphold it, in several particulars and relations, above all other property. Power to abolish, circumscribe or restrain it, is withheld, power is granted and it is withheld upon the Federal Government to protect and preserve it. Congress can not touch it, except to take care of it.

The constitution further guarantees the institution of slavery in two other clauses, by empowering Congress to call forth the militia to suppress insurrections and repel invasions, and by requiring the United States to protect each State against invasion, and on application of her legislature or executive (when the legislature cannot be convened) against domestic insurrections. Thus by delegates and prohibitions of power, the framers of the constitution endeavored to hedge about, guard and justify slave property against all assaults and above all other property.

But notwithstanding, property is the foundation of the social fabric; notwithstanding, slave property was recognized by nearly all Christendom, by all States of the confederation, and was held in all, but one, when the constitution was adopted; notwithstanding the framers of that instrument were slave owners or representatives of slave owners, notwithstanding it is so zealously and sedulously guarded and guaranteed in that constitution, notwithstanding it formed one of the laws of the Federal Union, enters into the frame work of the Federal Government, is one of the elements of the life-blood that courses through the veins of the Federal Republic, and is entitled to the defense of its sword and shield; the Northern Republican party is pledged by its principles and policy of its leaders, proclaiming here, to a year of extermination upon slavery. I shall quote from that platform instead of the speeches of Senators, because they but elaborate the ideas it contains, and it is the most authoritative, as well as the most comprehensive, summary of their party creed. The Philadelphia platform of June, 1850, denounces slavery as barbarous, unchristian, contrary to the law of nature, to justice, to the principles and the purpose and design of the Federal Government.

The resolution pledges the party to maintain the principles pronounced in the declaration and embodied in the constitution:

The second resolution specifies those principles to be "the right of men to life, liberty, etc., and declares the primary object and ultimate design of our Federal Government to be to secure those rights to all persons within its exclusive jurisdiction."

It asserts that these principles promulgated in the declaration, are embodied in the constitution and to maintain them, "is essential to the preservation of our republican institutions."

It denies the authority of Congress, of a Territorial Legislature, of any individual or association of individuals, to give legal assistance to slavery in any Territory of the United States while the present constitution shall be maintained. It claims that the constitution confers on Congress sovereign power over the Territories of the United States for their government, and that, in the exercise of power, it is both the right and the duty of Congress to prohibit in the Territories those twin evils of barbarism—polygamy and slavery.

The preamble of the constitution declares its object was to secure liberty to white men—if, forsooth, by ourselves and our posterity! The framers meant to designate the Caucasian race. But this platform blackens the faces or the fame of the framers of that instrument, by decking those words, embrace, or were intended to embrace, the African race or a mongrel race of white and black.

The constitution recognizes property in negro slaves in at least three clauses: encourages its acquisition, and binds the Federal Government to assist in maintaining the owners right to, and possession of, such property. But this platform asserts the inalienable right of all men to liberty, by virtue of the laws of God, the Declaration of Independence and the Federal Constitution! And Northern Republican Senators frequently denounce in explicit words that there can be any property in man.

The Constitution guaranteed to each State its reserved right to import slaves, and provided that the Federal Government should participate in the profits of their importation, for the first twenty years after the government thus providing for the protection of slave property on board of vessels bearing the federal flag on the high seas, where its jurisdiction was exclusive of the States, and of any other government. But this platform alleges the primary object of that government was to secure liberty to all persons within its exclusive jurisdiction!

The constitution guarantees to slave property representation in Congress, thus recognizing it as one of the elements of our republicanism. But this platform alleges, that maintenance of the right of all men to liberty, is essential to the preservation of our republican institutions.

Concluded next week.

Although Col. Benton went through the usual formalities of making a will, he nevertheless died very poor. The creditors of his estate are not likely, however, to press their claims unmercifully, and if a project on foot in reference to a certain disposition of his latest literary labors is successfully carried out, his debts will probably be paid in full.

JACKSONVILLE, ALA.

May 6, 1856.

We are authorized to announce Bartlett Owen, as a candidate for re-election to the office of Tax Assessor of Calhoun County—Election 1st Monday in August next.

We are authorized to announce Jesse U. Bryan, as a candidate for Tax Assessor of Calhoun County—Election 1st Monday in August next.

Kansas Admitted.

It is our pleasure to announce this morning the passage of the bill reported by the Kansas Conference Committee, admitting Kansas as a State under the Constitution, by both houses of Congress, and a majority of nine in each. That the passage of this bill will be satisfactory to the people of the South, we have little doubt from the fact, that only two Southern Democrats voted against it, and that it was opposed by the Black Republicans, and also Douglas, Crittenden, and Bell.

The Fugitive Bill was also passed by the Senate having received from it a amendment. Mr. Houston's Mexican Protection Resolutions were under discussion.

Religious Revival.

A deeply interesting meeting has been in progress in this place since last Friday week, conducted by Rev. Norton Nails, Pastor of 2nd Presbyterian Church, Mobile. From almost the first day, great earnestness and seriousness was awaked in the minds of professors of religion, of the various denominations, and very soon, cheering evidences of conviction and penitence on the part of many sinners. The interest continued to deepen and increase, and at this time we may safely say, that between 20 and 30 have made and open profession of religion, most of whom have united themselves to the Presbyterian Church. There are also a number of penitents and the meeting unabated in interest. How long the meeting will yet continue we are unable to say.

Attention is respectfully invited to the announcement, in another column, of the reception of New Goods, by Messrs. J. B. & G. H. Forney, referred to by us two weeks ago.

It is unnecessary for us to say more here, than that their stock is very large, handsome, well-selected, and offered at very low prices; and that the public will find the Proprietors & their Clerks as ready and willing as ever to accommodate them.

Report of the Grand Jury.

This document will be found in today's paper, and deserves the most careful and studious perusal of the public, and the sanctions of law have justified. They congratulate the court and county that the evidences of outbreaks upon the peace and security of the society in which we live, are far from being at all of very dubious character.

6. The Grand Jury return their thanks to the Honorable, the presiding Judge, for his efforts to enlighten them, and to the Collector, Nich. Davis, Esq. for his prompt and satisfactory assistance in the performance of their duties.

All of which are respectfully submitted.

Great Flood.

The Huntsville Daily, of Thursday, 22d, says: "On Monday night there was the heaviest fall of rain ever known in this region. At least six inches of solid water fell during the night. Water privileges in many houses and on many lots were abundant."

"The railroad trains have been interrupted. There are breaks between this and Decatur, and the Memphis train, due on Tuesday morning, has not arrived.

"The fourth week at Bessemer has been washed away in two places. Every exertion is being used to repair damages, but the trains cannot run regularly for a day or two more."

"Such heavy falls of rain as we have had this season cannot well be guarded against."

The Republicans and Douglas voted against it.

Prof. Birney's Works.

DESCRIPTION OF THE SERIES.

I. Every Lesson is English Grammar.

This work contains a brief synopsis of the leading principles of English grammar, and from its simplicity is well adapted to the capacity of young beginners."

II. A New System of English Grammar.

This work is intended as a textbook for common schools, and Academies.

In substance it is important on this subject, and is combined with the advantages of greater simplicity, precision, and correctness than any system within my knowledge."

III. Hand Book of English Grammar.

This work is specially designed as a text-book for High Schools, and Academies.

It will be found useful in furnishing Teachers with helps for answering questions, and for giving historical facts in regard to our language not found in any one work.

IV. PRACTICAL EXERCISES IN ENGLISH COMPOSITION, OR THE YOUNG COMPOSER'S GUIDE.

This work is specially directed to the use of young Composers, and will be found highly useful in assisting him in his first efforts.

V. RHETORIC AND CRITICISM.

This work is designed for the more advanced classes, and is intended to lead the student to a thorough and practical acquaintance with this study.

We have not had an opportunity to examine the entire series of Prof. W. S. Birney's text books for Schools and Colleges. So far as we have been able to look over them, we take great pleasure in expressing our opinion of their merits. They are highly recommended by L. C. Garland, L. L. D., President of the University of Ala., H. Talbird, D. D., President of the Howard College; Hon. W. P. Perry, Sup-of Education of Ala., and a host of distinguished Teachers and Professors, both North and South. We are truly glad to find southern talent engaged in the good work of Education. It is high time we had home books and home teachers.

STATE OF ALABAMA,

Calhoun County, J.

Circuit Court, Spring Term, 1858.

To the Hon. S. D. Hale, Presiding Judge of said court.

The Grand Jurors, sworn in the present term of the Court, in the discharge of their duty, on the termination of older labors, respectfully submit to the Court, a Report, in pursuance of law, of such matters as are required to be made public.

1. They have made a personal inspection of the Jail of the County, & report, that while it is not such a building as the strict letter of the law requires, yet the Court of County Commissioners are taking steps to perform their duty in regard to its improvement; a matter delayed, not on account of any disposition on the part of those officials to neglect their duty, but from the embarrassed condition of the finances of the County. The jail is at this time amply sufficient for the safe keeping of prisoners now in custody, and for those who are awaiting trial and sentence; it is due to the faithful and public spirited gentleman who holds the office of Sheriff, to say, that every attention and care that could be given to humanity required, have been bestowed by him upon the comfort of prisoners, and the cleanliness of the jail.

2. The Spring Term of the Circuit Court, commenced its session on Monday the 19th inst., at Jacksonville, the Hon. Smith D. Hale presiding and Nick Davis acting as Solicitor. We had formed rather an unfavorable opinion of Judge Hale in consequence of some decisions we had then told he had made, but during the three days we remained in Jacksonville, we were satisfied, that he is a discreet and efficient presiding officer. His decisions are prompt, and in charges to the Juries he evinces a complete knowledge of the law.

3. The Cotton Market and the Dues.

Augusta, April 28, 1858.

In Charleston the Cotton Market advanced an eighth to a quarter.

In New York the Market buoyant.

Sales in Mobile 1200 bales, and Market firm.

Sales in New Orleans 3000 bales, and Market, dull and unchanged.

The Dues.

The dues between two gentlemen from Montgomery, this afternoon, on the other side of the Savannah river, was blarney. The matter is now in the hands of gentlemen, to whom we have given our confidence.

4. The Markets & Weather—Frost and ice.

News from the Plains.

NEW YORK, April 27, 1858.

The Santa Fe news of April 21st was received at St. Louis to day. The express encountered violent snow storms, and noticed numbers of animals frozen on the route.

Capt. Marcy had been overtaken by Garland's Express, and was ordered to await an order at Fort Smith.

The times extra states that twenty thousand Indians were congregated on the plains—with the determination of making a descent on the frontier; and also that hostilities had actually commenced.

The report, however, is denied by a gentleman attached to the mail train, who recently passed through the country.

Constitutional.

WASHINGTON, April 15.

Very little business of general interest transpired in Congress today.

In the Senate, the Kansas question was discussed.

In the House, the old soldiers' bill was debated.

I am compelled to have money to pay debts. I will therefore sell the best bargain in Rich Farming Lands, (either well improved or unimproved,) in the west part of Calhoun County, ever offered in this country. Call on me 3 miles above Green's Port, price property fix terms pay charges take possession and send me off.

Help me to pay my debts for my dablings will not do it.

No joke I have as rich River bottom Land to sell as any man, and on better terms, than any man.

THOS. R. MANGHAM.
